Details

It sure would be handy to be able to swing your suitcase over your shoulder when the streets are crowded right? Clearly, Deuter thought the same which is why they came out with the Transit 65. This opens up like a suitcase so it's easy to pack and has a back system for easy transport - so you've got the best of both worlds.

Need to make it to the train station on time? No worries, the back of the Deuter Transit 40 unzips to reveal a back system so you can move your gear quickly in transit. The back system is adjustable and features padded mesh straps and stable aluminium frame and contoured hip belt for comfort and support when you're lugging your load around.

The Transit 65 also comes with two grab handles and a detachable padded carry strap, so you'll be able to lug your gear around with ease, no matter what situation you're in. The main compartment has a U-shaped zip so you can open your pack up and have full access to all your stuff while the compression straps keep everything in its right place. Any dirty or wet clothes can be neatly stowed underneath in the separate bottom compartment. When you're out and about in the day, just chuck your essentials on in the detachable day pack for a day out exploring.

When you're jet-lagged or late for a flight, the last thing you want is to not be able to get you and your gear to your destination on time. Save yourself the stress and get an easy to use and carry travel pack like the Transit 65 by Deuter.
