Details

The Lighthouse Micro Flash from Goal Zero is a mini lantern and flashlight that's petite enough to hang off your keychain or keep in your car - so you'll never be without light when you need it in your everyday life, or even when you're off the grid.

You can charge the Lighthouse Micro two ways: through a compatible separate Goal Zero Nomad Solar Panel, or through a USB power source. The lantern will provide you with 150 lumens of light, and the dimmable torch gives you an extra 120 lumens - so you can get the perfect amount of illumination for your chosen task.

If you're always fumbling for the lock on the front door, or stumbling up your long driveway when you get home late from work - the Lighthouse Micro Flash will make your life so much easier.
