Details

For fuss-free weekend adventures, the Trailhead Th2 Sleeping Bag from Sea to Summit provides technical features wrapped up in an uncomplicated package. This bag has a tapered rectangular shape which gives you extra room compared to a traditional mummy bag. When it warms up, open up the full-length side and foot zip to use it as a quilt, or add ventilation by opening the zip slider in the footbox. The Trailhead has a synthetic fill which features a unique WaveLoft™ construction which loops together thick layers of insulation to trap warm air. To make it lighter and more compressible the shell is made from 30D DWR nylon while the 20D nylon lining is attached to the shell to prevent it getting tangled. There's nothing more annoying than your zipper getting caught, which is why the oversized zip draft tube has an anti-snag, while the 5°C comfort rating and -1°C lower limit make it ideal for general camping use. For performance and value for your casual adventures, the Trailhead Th2 Sleeping Bag from Sea to Summit is ideal. 5°C comfort rating and -1°C lower limit Full length side and foot zip allows the bag to be opened and used as a quilt Second zip slider in the footbox provides extra ventilation and temperature adjustment WaveLoft looped synthetic insulation Lining fabrics are attached to the shell fabric to prevent tangles Oversized zip draft tubes with anti-snag Lightweight and compressible 30D DWR nylon shell and 20D nylon lining Includes a stuff sack Not designed to zip together with another bag
